"The results thus far obtained through our big Harvest Sale exceed all expectations," said H. Joe Isaacs, manager of the Famous today. "With my experience in conducting sales of this kind in Amarillo, I have never opened a sale under more flattering conditions. The first two days of the present big sale attracted hundreds of people and at the almost unheard of prices advertised we have had no trouble in selling a large amount of merchandise.

"In purchasing the stock of Galisher & Co., of Roswell we did so at prices that enable us to give our friends and customers the benefit of values never before shown by any dry goods house in this city and I am glad to say that these prices are being taken advantage of in a way that is almost surprising. Since our formal opening Friday of the big Harvest Sale, the store has been constantly crowded and the business already done shows a good appreciation on the part of bargain hunters who are after good values at reduced prices.

"The people as a whole appreciate an opportunity of this kind, where they are enabled to make their complete fall purchases at less than wholesale prices and during the remainder of the sale I anticipate a crowded house and promise that there will be no dissatisfied customers go away from this store.
